Honor courts, dinners, trips highlight troop activities

Boy Scouts of Atherton's Troop 206 heard a talk on Antarctica by John Granger at their recent court of honor held at Encinal School.

Granger visited Antarctica last fall, and he illustrated his talk with slides showing the living conditions encountered by U.S. Navy personnel stationed there.

After the talk, the scouts gave a demonstration of rope tying, first aid and signalling.

The troop designated Saturday, March 2, as Light-bulb Day. On this day, the scouts and their fathers will sell light bulbs throughout their neighborhoods as their major fund-raising activity of the year.

The scouts had prepared a potluck supper for their families at the court of honor.

Police dog shown

A demonstration of police dog training was the highlight of the annual Blue and Gold dinner held recently by Cub Scout Pack 206 of Atherton.

The demonstration was presented by Officer Tom Bowers of the San Carlos Police Department.

Eighty - one fathers and sons were present for the festivities, which were held at an Atherton restaurant. The scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 206, Paul Berry was on hand to invite those boys eligible for scouting to visit his troop.

The Achievement Award was presented to Den 4 at a recent pack meeting. Wolf badges were presented to each Cub Scout in the den. They were Greg Brandt, Scott Anderson, Mickey DeNola, Hal Gollos, Keith Hippen, Karl Kowalski, Jon Neuru, Jim Rudow.

Bear badges were presented to Rich Bernhard, Doug Sterne, Brent Peterson, David Roth, Brad Purnell, Robert Brown, John Stoddard, Mark Merrill, Oliver Troster and Larry Cates.

Gold arrows were presented to Rick Helmke, Brad Robertson, Oliver Troster and Mark Merrill.

A Silver arrow went to Rick Helmke.

Stephen Holmes received his Bobcat pin, and Gary Drach received his Bear badge.

Denner stripes went to John Levin, Fred Chapman, Greg Brandt, Mark Merrill and Keith Cafferata. Assistant Denner stripes were awarded to Robert Shibata, Doug Sterne, John Neur Oliver Troster and David Gouch.

Other awards were presented at the Blue and Gold dinner to Dick Gertridge, Brad Robertson, Mark Merrill, Larry Cates, Rick Helmke, Doug Sterne and Doug Peckler.

Store display

The Cub Scouts and den mothers of Pack 39 of Los Altos recently completed their annual display at a Los Altos store.

The display was prepared under the chairmanship of Marge Rubenson, and the boys won a certificate of achievement for their work. The award was presented at the pack's annual Blue and Gold dinner held recently.

In other activities during the busy month of February, a member of the Pack, Gary Hahn, was chosen to represent his group at the Los Altos City Council meeting on "Government Day." Boys from various Cub Scout packs and Boy Scout troops and posts "took over" the council for a day as a lesson in working democracy. They were also given a tour of the various city departments—fire, police, sanitation, etc.

The pack held its annual Blue and Gold dinner recently at Loyola School. Den 8 led the flag saltue during the after - dinner ceremonies, and the benediction was delivered by Rev. John Notehelfer of Foothill Covenant Church.

Dens 1 and 2 formed a German band which was directed for the occasion by Jack Huggins, assistant cubmaster. Sig Kufferath led his professional judo team through a demonstration.

Palo Alto cubs go aboard submarine

A trip to the S. S. Parche, a submarine at the U.S. Naval Reserve Armory at Alameda was the high point of the month for the boys of Cub Scout Pack 62 of Palo Alto.

The boys and their parents were guided through the submarine last Sunday morning.

In anticipation of the trip, a film on Polaris missiles and atomic submarines was shown at the pack's Blue and Gold dinner held a few days earlier at Van Auken School. The showing of the film was arranged by den - father Charles See.

The dinner meeting also featured a skit on the history of submariens presented by Den 1, and directed by den - father Ross Bright. For a prop, the boy's had constructed a large model of a submarine.

Demonstration of judo highlights pack meet

A judo demonstration highlighted the recent Blue and Gold diner of Menlo Park's Cub Scout Pack 204.

The exhibition was staged by instructor Moon Watanabe. Because two of his students are members of the Cub Scout pack, the cheers and sympathetic grunts and groans were vociferous.

Every member of Den 7 earned a wolf badge. They were Scott Bailey, Ronald Stanley, James Ferrando, Robert Ferrando, Joe Barcellona and Russell Henley.

This accomplishment entitles Den 7 to the Totem Pole award.

Den 1 was awarded the Bright-eyed and Busy-tailed Award for neatness. The webelos earned the Cubby Award for best parent presentation.

Get charter

Cub Scout Pack 10 of Palo Alto was presented with its official charter by a Boy Scout executive at its recent Blue and Gold dinner, and each boy who had paid his registration fee was presented with a registration card.

The dinner was held in the fellowship hall of the First Christian Church of Palo Alto, which was decorated for the occasion with objects made by the Cubs.

The colors were presented by the den chiefs. Rev. Donald Poston, minister of the church, gave a pryaer of thanks for the flag and spoke about the principles the flag stands for.

Space docking maneuver

A model of a lunar landing "bug" simulates the rendezvous and docking of a manned mission to the moon. The "bug" is below.

Mock capsule enables astronauts to practice docking in 'space'

BALTIMORE (AP) — A simulated space capsule, nicknamed the "Bug," is being used by Martin Co. engineers to study how a landing craft can meet and dock with its mother ship after a trip to the moon.

The company's space flight division is doing the study for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The formal name for the capsule is the lunar excursion module of Project Apollo. Two astronauts are to step into the real thing and land on the moon during this decade.

The earthbound capsule is connected to a flight simulator and an analogue computer. The two-man bug is mounted on a device which can make the craft roll, pitch and yaw.

Inside the craft two NASA pilots make simulated trips from the mother ship to the moon and back. The mother ship is represented by a concail shell suspended in the room from a moving crane.

From the craft, the pilots look at a wall on which a starfield is reflected through a closed circuit television channel. On the simulated trip back from the moon, the pilots watch a blinking light in the starfield as the light appears to move closer. The light represents the mother spacecraft.

Using the controls, hooked to the computer, the commander docks the bug to the mother ship.

The Martin Co. said the present flights are of short duration. Earlier flights in the full scale capsule were flown by three - man crews in studies of how the crews reacted under long periods of confinement.

Two 3½-day flights were made and a third flight took seven days.

The early studies showed that space travelers could perform their work adequately if they had proper pre-flight training, the company said.
